DEFEATED CHICAGO AGAIN

World Champions Hard Pressed By the Lajoie Men—Boston Americans Drop
Two Games to New York High-landers Yesterday.

The rejuvenated Boston Americans fell down twice before the New York Highlanders on their own grounds yesterday afternoon, the first time by the score of 9 to 5 and the second by the score of 11 to 3. The victors batted hard, getting a total of 31 bases in the two games. Washington and Philadelphia also played a double-header, splitting even. Perhaps the most noteworthy performance of the day was another defeat administered to the Chicago world-champions by Cleveland, thus putting the Clevelanders within four points of the coveted first position. St. Louis and Detroit were prevented from reaching a conclusive result by rain.

The Chicago Nationals kept up their monotonous performance of winning games, taking another from St. Louis, 4 to 1. The scrapping Tenneyites took a fall out of New York by the score of 10 to 8, while Philadelphia defeated Philadelphia and Cincinnati did the same to Pittsburgh.

GODDARD'S GOOD RECORD.

Ball Team Won Ten Out of 14 Games Played This Season.

The Goddard seminary baseball team has recently closed one of the most successful seasons of its career. The Goddard team has won all but four of the 14 games which it has played this season and only one of these was lost to a school team and that early in the season before the Goddard team had much practice. The other three games were lost to the local athletic clubs.

Goddard was conforming to the rules as adopted by the schoolmasters' club of its meeting last winter, and the record of the team shows favorably as compared to the other school teams of the state. In the following games Goddard was the winner:

IN STREETS OF BOSTON

Headed By Two Camels—Bekdash Temple of This City in Line—Banquet for 7,000 Last Night.

Boston, June 25.—Many unique features were included yesterday in the formal celebration of the 25th anniversary of the institution of Aleppo Temple Ancient Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, Oasis of Boston. A session of the temple in Mechanics building opened the day's celebrations and the largest initiation in the history of the order was consummated with many novel and peculiar features that appealed to the large gathering of Shriners who came from all parts of New England. Almost 350 novices were enrolled in the order.

A unique parade of about 7,500 Shriners, most of them clad in the official uniform of the order, a dark dress suit with a red fez, attracted large crowds in the afternoon. One of the features of the parade was the presence in line of two Siberian camels owned by Aleppo Temple.

During the noon hour the streets along which the parade was scheduled to pass was thronged with people seeking a shaded place from which to view the most imposing procession of men seen in the city since the national encampment of the Grand Army men two years ago. While the noon day sun was beating down fiercely, the Shriners headed by their camels, formed at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Dartmouth street for the start of their parade. The route included the principal downtown streets of the city, a total distance of over two miles.

At the conclusion of the parade a lunch for the nobles was planned, arrangements for more than 7,000 having been made.

BLACK, ITCHING SPOTS ON FACE

Physicians Called It Eczema in Worst Form—Treated Disease for a Year but Could Not Cure It—Patient Became Despondent—Suffering Promptly Alayed and

DREADFUL DISEASE CURED BY CUTICURA

"About four years ago I was afflicted with black blotches all over my face and a few covering my body, which produced a severe itching irritation, and which caused me a great deal of annoyance and suffering, to such an extent that I was forced to call in two of the leading physicians of ——. After a thorough examination of the dreaded complaint they pronounced it to be skin eczema in its worst form. They treated me for the same for the length of one year, but the treatment did me no good. Finally I became despondent and decided to discontinue their services. Shortly afterwards, my husband in reading a copy of a weekly New York paper saw an advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies. He purchased the entire outfit, and after using the contents of the first bottle of Cuticura Resolvent in connection with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, the breaking out entirely stopped. I continued the use of the Cuticura Remedies for six months, and three years ago I became completely cured and the affected parts were left as clear as ever. I have not felt a symptom of the eczema since, which was three years ago. I have been cured of the disease by the Cuticura Remedies, and I don't hesitate in saying that Cuticura Resolvent is the best blood medicine that I have ever used. I have been cured of the skin, scalp and blood of infants, children, and adults, when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Put in Drug & Chem. Co. page Cuticura Remedies on Skin Diseases."

PHOTOGRAPHY IN COLOR ACHIEVED, SAYS ADEE.

Assistant Secretary of State Interested in New Discovery in Paris.

Washington, June 25.—Acting Secretary of State Ade, just returned from a cycle tour of France, brings back a report of a wonderful recent discovery whereby real color photography is said at last to be possible. This discovery has been made by Lumiere Bros. of Paris, photographers of high repute, and is strictly scientific—being based upon certain fibrillae over the retina transmit to the brain impressions of red, blue, and yellow, the primary colors to which they are sensitive.

By use of a plate covered with transparent globules of starch, colored so that some are red, others blue, others yellow, a negative is produced having the complementary colors of the original object. This negative is reproduced and shows the original colors of the object photographed.
Mr. Ade, is having an investigation of the process made by a scientific friend in Paris, and believes its possibilities may prove to be great.

MARK TWAIN'S CHILDREN.

A Case Where Attempted Punishment Proved a Hopeless Failure.

Ordinary punishments answered very well for Susy. She was a thinker and would reason out the purpose of them, apply the lesson and achieve the reform required. But it was much less easy to devise punishments that would reform Clara. This was because she was a philosopher who was always turning her attention to finding something good and satisfactory and entertaining in everything that came her way. Consequently it was sometimes pretty discouraging to the troubled mother to find that after all her pains and thought in inventing what she meant to be a severe and reform compelling punishment the child had entirely missed the severity through her native disposition to get interest and pleasure out of them as novelties. The mother, in her anxiety to find a penalty that would take sharp hold and do its work effectively, at last resorted, with a sore heart and with a reproachful conscience, to that punishment which the licentious criminal in the penitentiary dreads above all the other punitive injuries which the warden inflicts upon him for his good—solitary confinement in the dark chamber. The griefed and worried mother shut Clara up in a very small clothes closet and went away and left her there—for fifteen minutes. It was all that the mother's heart could endure. Then she came softly back and listened—listened for the sobs, but there weren't any; there were muffled and inarticulate sounds, but they could not be construed into sobs. The mother waited half an hour longer. By that time she was suffering so intensely with sorrow and compassion for the little prisoner that she was not able to wait any longer for the distressed sounds which she had counted upon to inform her when there had been punishment enough and the reform accomplished. She opened the closet to set the prisoner free and take her back into her loving favor and forgiveness, but the result was not the one expected. The captive had manifested a fairly clever way out of the clothes hanging from the hooks and was having a most smart and unrepentant good time and requested permission to spend the rest of the day there.—From Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

Best Freezer on Earth

BECAUSE

1. Ice cream frozen in a "WONDER" has a delicate and delicious consistency unequalled by that frozen in any other.

2. The operation of freezing requires less exertion because of the scientific arrangement of the paddles which give to the cream a separate and distinct up-and-down motion of the cream in the can. This means rapidity in freezing and the most delicate and delicious ice cream.

3. It lasts longer than any other because it is more carefully made and only the best material is used. The tub never warps because it is made of pine with absolutely tight fitting staves saturated with paraffine. They come in all sizes, but in only one quality.
